MINATURE JOHNSTOWN

A Dam Holding a Vast Amount of Water Gives Way at Cleveland.

MUCH DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

Whole Section of the City Where the Works of the Standard Oil Company Are Located Is Totally Inundated.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—At 1:15 a. m. a dam under the Wilson avenue bridge gave way. Back of the dam is a body of water a mile and one-half long, hundreds of feet wide and in places 25 to 30 feet deep.

In the flood's course are the plants of the Standard Oil company, the Cleveland paper mills, the Flick slaughter house and other manufacturing plants. There are but few people living in the track of the flood, and these were all warned and have sought safety on high ground.

The cause of the flood is the recent heavy rains, the melting snow from the hillsides and a pond of several acres overflowing. Streams for several miles up the gully have added their quota of water. At 3 a. m. the right pier of the bridge fell down. No loss of life as yet. A large force of police and firemen are at the scene.

The Wilson avenue bridge is a structure 700 feet long, and has been built but a few months. It cost $350,000.

The break in the dam, which was an unsubstantial mass of earth, occurred while 30 men were yet at work on the artificial canal being sunk by the city engineers to allow the pent-up water to find a gradual and safe outlet.

These men had a most harrowing experience, and escaped with their lives with not one second to spare.

The 30 men were 25 feet below the summit of the dam, laboring in the dim glow of a few incandescent lights, when their foreman suddenly called to them to run for their lives. Most of them being foreigners and slow to understand English, but very few knew what the command meant and did not at first show any signs of heeding it and were literally dragged away. The last man had scarcely left the trench before a mighty torrent of water swept down over the trench with a terrific roar, carrying everything before it.

A big force of men were at once put to work making embankments, in order to hold the waters in check as much as possible.

The north end of the Wilson avenue bridge has been moved from its foundation half an inch, and engineers have given up hope of saving the structure.

A terrific collapse of the earth on the south side of the dam near the abutments occurred early, carrying away 15 feet of earth and taking several telegraph poles along with it.

A few moments later the water undermined an embankment 150 feet high and 50 feet in area, sweeping it down with the raging flood.

Shortly after 10 a. m. the sixth abutment of the big bridge gave way. The structure sagged, and then with a tremendous report snapped in two. About 150 feet of the bridge formed an incline plane to the ground.

As the day wore on the immense volume of water rushing out of the dam began to have its effect, and the flood became perceptibly less.

At noon the water had fallen 12 feet in the dam from its highest point, and it was then believed that the danger to the factories in the lower valley was practically over.

The dam was created by a roadway built across Kingsbury run many years ago. A high level bridge spanning the valley at that point has just been completed, and it is this structure which has been undermined and partly demolished by the flood.

The culvert under the old roadway became clogged up during the recent heavy rains, causing an immense body of water to become dammed up, covering many acres, and in some places 30 feet deep.

Fighting at Samoa.

Melbourne, Jan. 18.—Advices received here from Samoa, under date of Jan. 12, says there has been fighting there over the decision of Chief Justice Chambers in favor of Malletta Tanus, one of the candidates to the throne in succession to the late King Malletta, and it is added the native followers of Mataafa, the rival aspirant to the kingship, were victorious. Seventy-three men were killed or wounded.

State Officers Sworn In.

Little Rock, Jan. 18.—Governor Daniel W. Jones, Attorney General Jefferson Davis, Secretary of State A. C. Hull, State Treasurer Thomas E. Little and State Auditor Clayton took the oath of office before the joint session of the general assembly.

MR. BACON OF GEORGIA

Addresses the Senate on Resolutions Against Expansion.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Mr. Bacon of Georgia addressed the senate upon his anti-expansion resolutions, which were presented last week. He said in part: "Of all the great powers of the earth the government of the United States is the only one that contends for the right in all people of self-government. When they abandon in practice this principle, when they impose their dominion on an unwilling people, in the majestic march of free institutions, the hand upon the great dial of the clock of the world will have been set back 100 years."

He quoted from the speech of Senator Foraker the statement that it was not the purpose to hold the Philippines permanently, and said:

"I am especially glad to have the assurance of the distinguished senator that of his own knowledge the position thus stated by him is the position of the president of the United States. If that position can be assured as the one which the government will take and adhere to, there will be little difference or contention between us. The resolutions which I have introduced, and the adoption of which I am now advocating, agree substantially with the position announced by the senator from Ohio. What I desire, however, is that there shall now be an avowal of this position by the law-making power of this government in a joint resolution of congress approved by the president."

Bishop Hartsell Sails.

London, Jan. 18.—The Rev. Joseph C. Hartsell of Cincinnati, the Methodist Episcopal bishop to Africa, who left New York for Europe on Jan. 4 last, sails from Liverpool on Saturday for Africa. He had a long conference with Cecil Rhodes, and he has been granted concessions of lands and buildings, and has been promised co-operation in establishing industrial missions among the natives. Mr. Rhodes has invited Bishop Hartsell and Mrs. Hartsell to visit him at his Rhodesian home, "Groot Schuur," situated a short distance from Capetown in July next.

General Wood on Cubans.

New York, Jan. 18.—General Leonard Wood, military governor of Santiago, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Union League club. Among those present were General Stewart L. Woodford, Captain Rohley D. Evans, General Wallace S. Randolph, General McButler, General Benjamin F. Tracy and John Addison Porter. General Wood received a very hearty greeting, when he was introduced. In speaking of Cuba and the Cubans he said: "Whatever has been done in Cuba has been done not only for the Cubans, but for the United States."

Senate Refuses to Recognize House.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 18.—The house attempted to notify the senate of its organization, but that body adjourned without recognizing the committee. The governor still ignores the house organization, and has sent in no communications whatever. Republicans talk of making an organization of their own and appealing to the governor for recognition unless the Democrats accede to their demands that the two Republican contestees in the house be seated.

Harry the Valet Sentenced.

London, Jan. 18.—Johnson, alias "Harry the Valet," who is considered to be one of the cleverest jewelry thieves in Europe, and who was arrested in London on Nov. 28, with a man named Lippmann, having in their possession considerable quantity of the jewelry stolen from the dowager duchess of Sutherland early in October last, on board a train running between Paris and Calais, was sentenced to seven years' penal servitude.

Crazed by the Grip.

Louisville, Jan. 18.—Mr. Ernest McCann, secretary of the Kentucky Title company and one of the most prominent young men in legal and business circles of Louisville, committed suicide at his home by shooting himself through the head. He died almost instantly. No cause can be given for the deed save that continued suffering from the grip had caused him to become slightly unbalanced.

Narrowly Escaped.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Several hundred men and women employed in the big building at 153 Market street were thrown into a panic by a fire, which broke out on the fourth floor, and though no one was injured many had narrow escapes. The loss sustained aggregates $60,000.

Czar's Trip to Riviera.

Paris, Jan. 18.—The Soliel publishes a report to the effect that the czar in May next will spend a fortnight on the Riviera, where, the paper adds, his majesty will be visited by President Faure and by Emperor William of Germany.

THE RATE FOR MINING

An Increase of Over Seven Cents a Ton Demanded by Miners.

NEW BASIS FOR MACHINES.

The Operators Formulate a Scale For Presentation to the Miners but Decline to Give Information About It.

Pittsburg, Jan. 18.—The miners went into executive session immediately upon assembling to consider the report of the scale committee. The discussion continued all morning.

According to one of the delegates, the committee reported in favor of a general run-of-mine system, and fixed the rate at 50 cents a ton, an increase of a fraction over 7 cents a ton.

The present rate for digging run-of-mine coal is 42.66 cents a ton. It was also decided to fix the rate for coal passing over an inch and a quarter screen at 76 cents, or 10 cents a ton more than the present rate.

A material change was reported in the differential as to machine and pick mining. The committee favored basing the price for machine mined coal on the rate in Illinois, and fixing 7 cents a ton as the differential between pick and machine mining.

The rate in the other states to correspond according to the present existing differentials, which were arranged on account of the various conditions in the different coal fields.

This would make the differential in the Pittsburg district about 15.5 cents, instead of 17 cents. The 8-hour clause was also reported favorably.

Previous to the opening of the operators' and miners' interstate convention a general meeting of operators was held at the Monongahela House and a scale formulated for presentation at the joint convention. The meeting was behind closed doors, and the operators declined to give any information for publication.

The general sentiment, however, was in favor of a reduction in the price of mining and against a continuation of the 8-hour day.

At 2 p. m. the joint convention opened at Carnegie hall, Allegheny. There was a full attendance of operators and miners.

Eagan Pursues His Duties.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Secretary Alger came to the department about 10 a. m. and among the first of his visitors was Commissary General Eagan. The latter was on duty as usual, and the burden of his conversation with the secretary was the supply of certain commissary stores to the United States garrisons in Cuba. This continuance of General Eagan at his duties of course is an indication that he has not yet been officially advised of the fact that he is to be tried by courtmartial, for, being then under technical arrest, he would be obliged to turn over his office to some one else, temporarily at least.

Ordered to Trial.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—Judge Hammond in the United States circuit court overruled the motion of the railways in the lake front case. The attorneys for the railroads at the opening of the case several days ago moved that the court decide the case in their favor on pleadings already before the court and refuse to take any further testimony. The fight on this point was long and hard fought. The judge decided the court could not grant the railways' motion, and ordered the trial to proceed before a jury.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The house committee on postoffices and postroads restored the appropriation of $225,000 for the pneumatic tube service, which was stricken from the postoffice appropriation last week. The appropriation is for the continuance of the service in New York, Philadelphia and Boston. Since the committee decided not to continue the appropriation this year it has been overwhelmed with pressure to restore it, and in consequence the committee reversed its former action.

Sent to the Dead House.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The house committee on banking and currency definitely decided to make no further effort at the session to urge the measure for currency and banking revision known as the McCleary bill. At the meeting Mr. Mitchell of New York moved to formally report the bill to the house. This motion was tabled, 7 to 5, which was accepted as decisive that no further action on the general measure would be taken.

The eye is the first feature to show the approach of old age in man by the fading of the color at the circumference of the corner.

CHARLES A. GARDINER

Presents Reasons to New York Bar Association For Acquiring Territory.

Albany, Jan. 18.—The New York Bar association held their annual meeting here.

Charles A. Gardiner, counsel for the elevated railroads of New York city, addressed the bar association on "Our right to acquire and hold foreign territory." He spoke in part as follows, quoting liberally from authorities:

"The sovereign nations of the world possess equal rights and equal powers. Their equality is perfect, their independence absolute. Between them national constitutions are unknown. In external and international relations the United States is assumed by all other sovereignties to possess absolute powers unrestrained by constitutional limitations. That assumption is correct, based upon the fundamental canon of the law of nations. The United States may ratify its proposed treaty with Spain, and no other nation has any right to question its political or constitutional authority to do so."

Mr. Gardiner held that the right to acquire, hold and govern territory was absolute, and all the problems arising from expansion was political and not constitutional or judicial, as the authority rests with congress and not with the courts.

Speaking of the right to acquire territory, he says: "The right to acquire territory being a primary attribute of sovereignty, and being therefore general and plenary, and the right to hold and hence to govern being a corollary of the right to acquire, it follows that such right irrespective of the constitution belongs to the United States as fully and completely as a similar right could belong to any sovereign nation. So far as rights are concerned, if England can hold, and hence govern colonies, so can we. If Russia has the right to exercise sovereignty over Port Arthur, we have an equal right of sovereignty to rule the Philippines."

"The president now maintains provisional military governments in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines—provisional upon the ratification of the treaty and upon the subsequent action of congress. Upon ratification, and until congress makes rules and regulations, the president may continue these governments. Many precedents are furnished by our history—during and after the Mexican war, in Tamaulipas and California."

Sentence Disapproved.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Captain George V. Lane, Elkhart Illinois volunteer infantry, was recently found guilty by a courtmartial convened at San Luis, Cuba, of failing to resist mutiny in violation of the twenty-third article of war, and of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline in violation of the sixty-second article of war, and was sentenced to be dismissed from the service of the United States. The record in this case having been submitted to the president, he disapproved the findings and sentence on the ground "that the evidence concerning the charges upon which the accused was convicted were very conflicting, and failed to establish his guilt beyond a reasonable doubt."

No Details to Be Given Out.

Washington, Jan. 18.—It was stated at the war department that no announcement would be made of the details for the courtmartial in the case of Commissary General Eagan. It is likely that the department is in telegraphic correspondence with a number of officers of high rank, who are regarded as available to ascertain whether they can undertake duty on the courtmartial, without injury to the services to which they are now assigned. Pending the result of these inquiries, it is of course not possible to publish the full details.

New Incorporations.

Columbus, O., Jan. 18.—The Byesville Iron and Steel company, Cambridge, capital stock $150,000; the Frank L. Cody Building company, Cleveland, certificates of reduction of capital stock from $50,000 to $10,000; and change of name to the Ohio Land and Building company; the Intercean Transit company, Cincinnati, capital stock $15,000; the Akron Trolley Wheel company, Akron, capital stock $10,000.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Judge Peter S. Grosscup of Illinois will be nominated by the president to succeed the late Judge Showalter as United States circuit judge.

VOTING FOR SENATORS

Deadlocks In a Number of State Legislatures Continue.

QUAY'S UNLUCKY THIRTEEN.

Depew of New York, Burrows of Michigan and Others Are Formally Declared Elected to the United States Senate.

Harrisburg, Jan. 18.—The senate and house met in joint assembly at noon to ballot for United States senator. Lieutenant Governor Gobin called the convention to order.

Representative Dixon offered a resolution fixing the rules governing the joint assembly, but Mr. Gobin declared that nothing was in order but comparing the journals of the senate and house on the senatorship.

After comparing the journals, Mr. Gobin announced that Mr. Quay was named for senator in the senate, but that there was no election in the house.

The roll of the senate and house was called, 245 members responding. The ballot was taken and resulted as follows: Quay (R.), 112; Jenks (D.), 34; Dalzell (R.), 15; Stone (R.), 9; Stewart (R.), 9; Huff (R.), 5; Tubbs (R.), 4; Irvin (R.), 3; Charles E. Smith (R.), 1; Rice (R.), 2; J. E. Downing (R.), 2; Grow (R.), 1; Alvin (R.), 1. Necessary to a choice, 125. No election, Mr. Quay lacking 13 votes.

When the vote was announced Senator Grady moved to adjourn. Mr. Gobin put the motion and declared the convention adjourned.

Mr. Flynn called for the yeas and nays, but the lieutenant governor declined to order the call and ruled that the assembly was adjourned.

The house then reconvened, but immediately adjourned.

After the adjournment Mr. Flynn invited the legislators "opposed to the bulldozing tactics of the chair" to remain. A meeting was called and the Democratic and Independent senators and representatives participated in the meeting.

Not Enough Votes.

Dover, Del., Jan. 18.—The Delaware legislature met at noon in joint session to ballot for United States senator. The ballot resulted as follows: For J. Edward Addicks (Union R.), 15; H. A. Dupont (Regular R.), 11; William S. Hilles (R.), 2; George Gray (D.), 15; L. Irving Handy (D.), 5; John G. Gray (D.), 1; absent, 3. Necessary to a choice, 25. No election.

Engree's Ruler Pill.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 18.—The last act in the election of a United States senator from Michigan for the term of six years from March 4 next was enacted a noon, when the two houses of the legislature met in joint convention and ratified the election of Senator Julius C. Burrows, the present Republican incumbent.

No Election.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 18.—The legislature met in joint convention and took one ballot for United States senator. Allen received the full Fusion vote of 58, Hayward gained 1, reaching 29. The other Republican votes were distributed among 16 candidates. Necessary to elect, 66.

Depew Declared to Be Senator.

Albany, Jan. 18.—The senate and assembly in joint session formally declared Chauncey M. Depew the successor to Hon. Edward Murphy, Jr., as a representative of the state of New York in the United States senate for a term of six years.

WITH corn, wheat and tobacco about as low as these crops ever get, of course the farmer is unusually happy these days.

It is broadly intimated that Egan was simply the mouthpiece of Secretary Alger in his villainous attack on General Miles. If this can be proven, Alger should be drummed out of the Cabinet whenever Egan is kicked out of the army.

COMMISSARY GENERAL EGAN may have cause to wish he had been miles away from that court at Washington before he gets through with the matter of the coarse, violent and utterly inexcusable tirade in which he indulged towards his superior officer recently.

LIEUT. GOV. WORTHINGTON is on deck at Frankfort, during Gov. Bradley's absence, but his experience of late years has taught him a thing or two, and he announces that he will listen to no personal appeals for pardons. Had he not issued this statement, he would have had little time for anything else.

THE Portsmouth Blade and the Public Ledger of this city are both good Republican journals. The Blade says the price of paper has been advanced by the trust, compelling it to increase the price of its subscription from 6 to 10 cents a week. The Ledger says paper is cheaper now than it has ever been. These Republican editors should get together and reconcile their statements.

ATTORNEY GENERAL MONNETT, of Ohio, tells how the Standard Oil trust crushes out all competition. For instance, not long ago the Standard reduced the price of oil in Miami County, Ohio, to 1 cent a gallon. The small dealers, of course, could not meet the cut, and they were ruined. When competition was driven out the price went up to a nice figure. At one time the Standard cut the price of oil in Dayton to 4 cents. At the same time oil was selling for 8 cents in Urbana. At the present price of raw materials (Mr. Monnett has this from an authority that can not be questioned, he says), it can afford to sell oil at 4 cents a gallon. All it gets above that is taken from the pockets of the people. No wonder the head of this giant monopoly can give millions of dollars to endow schools and churches!

In the general cry against trusts the average citizen who has not had the means of collecting the figures hardly knows just what a strong indictment he could make out were he provided with the facts. In one single year, 1898, and in one single State, New Jersey, the following monopolies were chartered:

- American Tin-plate Company, $50,000,000.
- Federal Steel Company, $200,000,000.
- American Fisheries Company, $10,000,000.
- Atlantic Snuff Company, $10,000,000.
- Anderson Safe Float Company, $15,000,000.
- Standard Distillery Company, $15,000,000.
- American Thread Company, $12,000,000.
- American India Company, $18,000,000.
- American Linseed Company, $33,500,000.
- American Pottery Company, $27,000,000.
- Continental Tobacco Company, $75,000,000.
- International Silver Company, $20,000,000.
- National Biscuit Company, $55,000,000.
- Otis Elevator Company, $11,000,000.
- United Breweries Company, $5,000,000.

Here is a centralization of $564,000,000 in the hands of fifteen manufacturing bodies. The power of such capital upon the individual is almost almighty.—Cincinnati Post.

The Post overlooks one important point in the above. While these fifteen trusts are capitalized at $564,000,000 it is safe to say that not less than $300,000,000 of it represents no actual investment. They propose, however, to make the American consumer pay them a dividend in cash on the actual investment, and also on the $300,000,000 "wind." Down with the trusts.

Kentucky Distillers Will Carry Their Own Insurance if the Trust Doesn't Come to Terms.

[Exchange.]
 The Kentucky distillers are getting up a fund to fight the insurance companies doing business in Kentucky. This fund will be used in proceeding against the companies in the courts and also for the purpose of organizing, the assets of which will astound the old line companies.

The plan of the company is to have the assets consist of accrued and accruing storage on the whisky now in warehouses. It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 barrels of whisky in storage, each barrel paying a storage of 5 cents a month. At this rate the distillers of the State receive $100,000 a month for storage, which will average $1,200,000 a year.

The idea is to combine all the distillers of the State into a mutual company, taking the accrued storage for one year as the assets of the company. If this is done at once, and the money is needed before the whisky is taken out of bond, this storage can be mortgaged. Mortgages on storage charges are popular securities among the different money lenders who want gilt-edged collateral, and those who are working hardest to organize the company say they will have no trouble raising ready money.

The big company in Kentucky will be the parent or home company, and it is the purpose of the distillers to have the wholesalers all over the country organize similar companies in connection with the company in Kentucky.

The distillers claim they pay on whisky alone insurance premiums amounting to about $220,000 a year at a rate about double that paid for similar risks in other parts of the country. They say they are giving out about $120,000 a year for which they get no returns. This total of premiums does not include the insurance paid on the warehouse buildings themselves.

Report That President McKinley Is Trying To Patch Up a Truce With Governor Bradley.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 16.—Gov. Bradley left Frankfort quietly yesterday, and to-day it was learned that he would be out of the State for ten days, and Lieut. Gov. Worthington would act as Chief Executive.

Ostensibly the Governor has gone to Warm Springs, Va., for a much needed rest, but Washington is only a few hours' run from Warm Springs, and it is being whispered here that the Governor has been summoned to the Capital City on an important political deal that may control the next Republican State ticket in Kentucky. Roosevelt has a number of personal friends among the Kentucky Republicans, and, under present conditions, could carry the State over McKinley.

It is said the President realizes this, and wishes to make peace with Bradley by urging his friends in Kentucky to put some Bradley men on the next State ticket.

The Governor may also use his influence to keep Col. Colson's regiment, the Fourth Kentucky, from being mustered out.

YOU CAN BUY

A woman's Glove for $1 at any dry goods store, but if you would buy the very best Glove sold at this price you will have to buy it from us. We have seen many Gloves no better in style, not nearly so flexible, really inferior in grade, at 50c. higher. We speak of our $1.00 Fedora Gloves from a positive knowledge of their worth. They are made from real kid skin by the best Glove maker France has. We have them in all sizes, in black, white and colors. They are beyond doubt the model $1.00 Glove for women. We guarantee them and want every woman in Maysville to see them. Examine them; if you don't need them now you may buy them later on.

White Bedspreads.

Housewives who know counterpane goodness and counterpane economy do not come here by chance. If you never helped to swell the crowds that buy Bed Blankets here it's our fault—our fault in not keeping you posted as to our Counterpane doing. Just such values as these make this the busiest counterpane section in town. Read the particulars of this particular offering—then come.

FOR 50c.—Crochet Bedspreads, full size, Marseilles patterns, hemmed ready for use.

FOR 75c.—Best makers' workmanship, extra heavy, medallion center with Flemish border.

Transport Grant Disabled.
New York, Jan. 18.—It is very doubtful if the troop transport Grant will get away on her long voyage to Manila. She sustained an accident to her propeller as she was being towed to her anchorage off Liberty Island, the extent of which has not yet been ascertained. There is besides an impression that it will be necessary to put a new dynamo on board the Grant before she sails.
The Platform Sunk.
Denver, Jan. 18.—Colonel and Mrs. William J. Bryan left for their home in Lincoln Neb. A portion of the platform, two feet high, from which Colonel Bryan delivered his address at the Coliseum, fell down under the weight of 400 people, who were seated upon it. The incident caused some confusion, but no one was seriously hurt.
Dervishes Surrender.

FORGER McClUNG.

Report of His Death Confirmed—He Was Serving a Sentence in the Colorado Pen.

The BULLETIN recently published an item from the Portsmouth Times stating that a report had reached that city of the death of Dr. S. T. McClung, the forger, at some point out West. McClung, it is remembered, forged a check on the Bank of Maysville in February, 1897, and was captured at Broshers' Station by Detective Fitzgerald who also recovered the money. McClung managed, through Louisville parties, to give bail in sum of $500, and that was the last seen of him in Maysville.

Captain Fitzgerald, on reading the report of the Doctor's death, wrote to Louisville parties and has received the following confirming the report:

THE CARBONATE NATIONAL BANK, LEADVILLE, COLO., January 11, 1899.
E. W. Fitzgerald, Esq., Corvinton, Ky.—Dear Sir: I have your inquiry of the 7th inst., and answer, for name, I beg to say that S. T. McClung, alias J. G. Ryder, was arrested here last May, after attempting to negotiate a draft drawn by himself on the First National Bank of Telluride, and bearing the forged endorsement of one of our customers.

After a preliminary examination he was bound over for appearance at the regular September term of our district court, and in default of bail was remanded to jail.

At the September term he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced by the court to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary at Canon City, Colo., where after a short incarceration he died.

We understand that after his arrest many charges were preferred against him, by victims in this State, and throughout the West.

The only definite knowledge we have is contained in the foregoing; but if you wish to obtain a complete record of his wrongdoing, same may possibly be obtained from Mr. J. C. Fraser, Asst. Supt. Pinkerton Agency in Denver. Address Tabor Opera House Block. Yours very truly,
F. X. HOGAN, Cashier.

McClung was born near Hurricane, W. Va., and was the "black sheep" of an estimable family.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was made for her. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was made for her. The former is for the distinctly feminine, the other for her general system. Together they supply a scientific and successful course of treatment. The "Favorite Prescription" restores healthy, regular action to the organs distinctly feminine. It forces out all impurities, strengthens the tissues, allays inflammation. The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes appetite, helps digestion, promotes assimilation, fills out the hollows in cheeks and neck with good solid flesh and brings back the gladness of girlhood.

CITY JUDGE BUCKNER LEAVELL, whose "inebriate list" created a local sensation at Hopkinsville and has been the subject of much discussion all over the State, says that since he began to strictly enforce the ebriate law not a white man residing in Hopkinsville has been fined for drunkenness and only two colored men living in the city have been fined. Judge Leavell states further that petty thieving has been practically broken up by the institution of the whipping post, established during his administration, only five boys in as many months having been arraigned for pilfering.

POKING FUN AT COL. BOONE.

The Portsmouth Blade Stirs Up the Black Diamond Railroad Boomer.

[Portsmouth Blade.]

Col. Boone writes to Mayor Glidden an impassioned and oratorical letter in which he shows clearly that he has misinterpreted the Blade's kindly reference to his railroad schemes, and to the township meeting method of raising funds.

Let 'em go on. According to Col. Boone's own elegantly tabulated figures, the great Black Diamond system needs but a matter of $10,000,000 to build. Now, it is as plain as the multiplication table that if 4,000,000 farmers give $10 each, the necessary capital is furnished, in the twinkling of an eye. True, there are not quite 4,000,000 farmers in the entire United States, and some of them who are raising prunes in California or celery in Michigan or spruce gum in Maine might not feel inclined to put up their ante, but then others might go a twenty or a fifty on the Black Diamond for place.

And by the way, who is Sir Thomas Tancred?

Colonel Boone writes the Mayor of Portsmouth that he had intended building the Pittsburgh branch of the great Black Diamond up the river from Cincinnati to Portsmouth, but he threatens to leave that city off his route if the Blade's penny-a-liners don't leave him alone. See?

[Special Correspondence.]

PEKING, Nov. 15.—Since I have resided in the capital city of the Flowery Kingdom I have been led to think as never before of the essentials of that civilization of which we hear so much. Here I have been brought face to face with a civilization which was old before any of the nations of Europe had assumed a local habitation and a name. That it is essentially different from western civilization no one can deny, but neither can any one deny that it is a civilization. More than 2,000 years ago it was so old that it had become crystallized into a conservatism of political methods and social usages which have remained practically unchanged ever since.

It is not a phase of civilization which appeals sympathetically to the western mind, but it must be conceded that in certain respects it is in advance of our own. The Chinaman is not a fighting animal, but he is almost invariably industrious. He is not profoundly religious, but he is generally law abiding, and in no country are filial piety, brotherly love and virtuous living more highly commended. Regard for parents has developed into a religious cult, and if the Chinese occasionally worship nothing else they are certain to prostrate themselves before the shrines of their ancestors. The feudal system still prevails in a modified form in some countries of Europe, but more than 2,000 years ago it was abolished in China, and probably ever since then, as now, political preferment and social status were the rewards of intellectual endowments and personal merit. Many abuses exist in China, and official corruption is rampant, but these seem to be less the outcome of the system prevailing in the country than of a lax administration of law and the same submission of the people under the rigorous, dishonest rule of officials.

Into this fossilized system of political and social conventionalities the young emperor, Kwang-Hsu, attempted lately to introduce some radical reforms. They were in general much needed reforms, but they were too sweeping, and unfortunately the emperor was weak and stood practically alone in his efforts to introduce some of the phases of western life. The all powerful Empress Dowager Tsi An bitterly opposed these contemplated changes, practically deposed the emperor and annulled his edicts of reform. In doing this she was supported by nearly all the official class and by the people. Since the emperor's laudable attempt at reforming his kingdom rumors have been current in the city that he is seriously ill, and I shall not be surprised to hear of his death at any moment. The palace of the emperor is hermetically sealed to all but the court party, and for all any one outside its precincts knows he may already have ascended upon the dragon to occupy an important position in the upper celestial kingdom.

In making his exit from the mundane stage so summarily and at such an opportune moment for his enemies he would be but following the example of his predecessor, Tung-Chi, who, when he attempted to get out of the leading strings of the empress dowager and assert his independence in 1875, met a similar fate. But whether the emperor lives or dies it will probably be some years before China adopts reforms which would do much to develop her resources and increase her importance in the community of nations. The integrity of her domain threatened on every side, it is high time that she awoke to the realization of her position. In five or six years it may be too late, and the disintegration of the vast empire may be relegated to others the introduction of reforms which if inaugurated by herself would have saved her from ruin. Already China has lost Annam to France, the suzerainty of upper Burma to Great Britain and the Amur valley to Russia, with the probability that Manchuria will soon also become an appanage of the czar's.

"I do not know whether or not it would be better for the western world to have China remain as she is and stand the chance of disintegration or have her, like Japan, open her door to modern ideas of civilization. Should she follow the example of Japan the possible consequences are appalling. Intellectually the Chinese are fully equal to the Japanese, and physically they are probably superior. They do not fear death, are not deficient in courage, have a strong sense of duty and are devotedly attached to their native land. Properly disciplined and equipped and commanded by trained officers they would undoubtedly make good soldiers. Under General (Chinese) Gordon they demonstrated their capacity as soldiers in the suppressing of the Taiping rebellion in 1863, and this under circumstances which were not calculated to display their possible attainments in this direction.

Inbued with modern ideas and possessing the appliances of our civilization China, with the aspirations and ambitions of Japan, might become a menace to all the rest of the world. An army of 5,000,000 or 10,000,000 men would scarcely be missed out of her teeming population, and if she entered upon a career of conquest, with sufficient resources to equip her troops, she might well be supposed irresistible.

But whatever fate may await China, politically considered, the wall of seclusion with which she has surrounded herself for centuries has been broken, and the vast country will shortly be as free to the agents of commerce as any other part of the earth. As a field for commercial enterprise it is unsurpassed, and untold riches await the nations which can gain a control of that trade in the start. This, more than the possession of Chinese territory, is leading to the rivalry between Russia, Great Britain and Germany in China. Very strangely the United States, with trade interests in that country exceeding all other nations but Great Britain, appears to be asleep and allows her chances of a valuable trade to be monopolized by others.

Of the various competitors for the trade of China Russia so far seems to have outdistanced all her rivals. For 50 years she has been planning to capture the rich markets of this vast Chinese empire, and to accomplish this it was necessary to have railroad communication through Siberia to a convenient seacoast port open all the year. Quietly she has pursued her course, and, generally regarded as an unimportant factor in the commercial world, she has secured for the Muscovite traders the richest markets in the world. She has obtained privileges in China which will give her a practical monopoly of the trade to that country when the Transiberian railway is completed. It appears from the published text of the agreement alleged to have been made by the Chinese government with the Russo-Chinese bank that it has pledged itself to charge one-third less import duty on all Russian goods entering China through Manchuria than is paid on similar products from other foreign countries landed at Chinese ports. But this is not the only advantage the Russian trader will have in disposing of his wares in China. He will also be charged lower transit dues, and in cases where it is thought possible to destroy competition the Russian government will grant rebates which will practically secure a monopoly to her merchants in the articles so favored.

In Persia Russia has killed competition by her system of rebates. On every pound of manufactured Russian cotton or other goods sent into Persia the Russian manufacturer and merchant receive from their government three halfpence, which is more than sufficient to cover the cost of freight, amounting to a halfpenny per pound, leaving a penny per pound profit in freight besides the usual profit on their goods. The traders of the United States and all other countries find it impossible to compete with those of Russia under those circumstances.

Should a lower import duty and transit dues not be sufficient to destroy competition in China Russia, we may be sure, will adopt there the method she has found so effective in Persia. In any event the concessions granted to Russia in China will undoubtedly injure the trade in oil, flour, piece goods and other products sent from the United States to China when the railway across Siberia is completed. The system of Russian bounty will also seriously affect American kerosene interests when it is extended to oil tank trains through Siberia and Manchuria, bringing millions of gallons of Russian petroleum to China.

But independently of the unfavorable circumstances referred to there are other obstacles in the way of American merchants securing trade in China for which they are themselves responsible. They mistakenly conclude that anything will do for the Chinese, whereas there is no people in the world more particular than they are. In trading with them their customs and even their superstitions must be considered as well as the things which are regarded as important in other countries. In dealing with them it is a great matter to have a lucky trademark, and it is above all important that they should deal not with the firm directly, but with a man on the ground in whom they have confidence. This man, if he is wise, knows the demands of the trade and makes his selections accordingly; and however eccentric some of his orders may be they should be followed.

Anticipating the completion of the Siberian railway, three new steamship lines have been established to sail between America and Vladivostok. One of these, the American-Japanese, has for its western terminus San Diego and will work in connection with the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad; the second, the English-Canadian, will work in connection with the Canadian Pacific, and two of its large steamers will run regularly from Vancouver and Victoria to Hakodai and Vladivostok.

SYRUP OF FIGS

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.

The third line belongs to the North German Lloyd and has not yet selected its United States terminus, but it will probably be either San Francisco or Los Angeles.

RUNNING DOWN CLEWS.

Every Effort Being Made to Locate the Missing Yacht.

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 18.—Captain L. A. Bogle of the fishing smack John W. Hildin, which arrived here, reports that while cruising at Chandelure island, on Jan. 6, he was told by Captain Hansen, the lighthouse keeper, that a party of ladies and gentlemen in a large yacht had stopped on the island on Jan. 5 and visited the lighthouse. He said the yacht was the Paul Jones, but he did not know the direction the boat went.

The report of a launch stranded on Dauphin island will be thoroughly investigated. Instructions have been sent by Mr. Harry Hartwell, a prominent yachtsman here, to Fort Morgan, to one of his boats, to visit Dauphin island immediately and look for the launch. No information has been received up to this time by him.

Werner Publishing Company Sold.
Akron, O., Jan. 18.—R. P. Marvin, receiver, sold the property of the Werner Publishing company at public sale. It was bid in by a committee representing the creditors of the concern, a majority of whom had agreed to the sale and the plan of reorganization contemplated. The realty involved in the transaction was appraised at $550,000. The reorganization of the Werner company under the same name will take place as soon as the sale is confirmed. The new company will probably be capitalized at $3,500,000.

The number of men in the mine was about 60. Ten men were working beyond where the fire is supposed to be. They were all rescued.

Tribute to Librarian Young.
Washington, Jan. 18.—At the opening of the session of the senate the chaplain, in his invocation, referred feelingly to the death of John Russell Young, librarian of congress. Mr. Young was referred to as "one esteemed by all who knew him," and as one who "by toil had converted his endowments into accomplishments."
